LEADERS ALL WON.

No Surprises In The Final Count
Yesterday.

MISS ADCOCK HAS HIGHEST VOTE.

Misses Dillman, Burris and Shanklin are the Other Winners.

THE KENTUCKIAN'S contest to select four young ladies to make a free trip to the Jamestown Exposition, closed yesterday at noon and the counting of votes began at one o'clock by a committee composed of Messrs S. G. Buckner, Walter Kelly and John Stites. The counting proved to be a very laborious and tedious work and occupied more than two hours.

The contest developed no surprises, as the young ladies who had been leading in the districts held their positions to the end.

The contest has been conducted with good feeling between the several candidates. There were some disappointments of course, but the results were all reached in a manner absolutely fair to every one.

The contest has been a success in every way and has largely increased the circulation of the Kentuckian. A total of nearly 60,000 votes were cast.

In District No. 1 Miss Marion Burris won by 751 votes over Miss Osborne.

In District No. 2 Miss Maybel Dillman was an easy winner, increasing her lead in the windup by nearly 3000 votes.

In District No. 3 Miss Lois Adcock won with many votes to spare, receiving more votes than any other. In District No. 4 Miss Maud Shanklin was the winner, receiving one of the largest votes cast.

The winners are all most popular and attractive young ladies and will be most creditable representatives of Kentucky and THE KENTUCKIAN at the Jamestown Exposition. The trip will be arranged for some time during July or August, when the big show is complete.

Details will be given later.

PLEASANT EVENING.

Mr. and Mrs. John C. Latham, of New York City, Entertained.

The social event of the spring was the reception given by Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell Latham, of New York City, Tuesday evening at their summer home. The doors were opened at 6 p. m. and for over two hours a stream of friends were passing in and out of Mr. Latham's beautiful residence.

On entering, Miss Jennie Glass received the callers and presented them to Mr. and Mrs. Latham, Mrs. Gaylord, mother of Mrs. Latham, and little Miss Alice Latham, who looked unusually sweet in white and pink, the colors of the evening. Mrs. John Howe and Mrs. J. G. Simrall, of Louisville, visitors of Mrs. Latham, were also presented to callers. As the visitors were welcomed by host and hostess and the mother of Mrs. Latham in the parlor, they were ushered into the adjoining room, where frappe was served by Miss Bettie Lee Smith. Then the guests passed into another room, where ices, cakes and confectionery were served and souvenirs of the evening were presented. In another room Miss Edith Boulware presided at the coffee urn.

The hundreds of invited friends enjoyed the privilege of meeting the wife of one of Hopkinsville's most successful men, who is now a citizen of New York City, where he located after spending a short time here at the close of the civil war, in which he served so faithfully on the Confederate side. The hostess looked queenly in a rich white gown and won the esteem of all by her words of welcome and gracious manner. The host entered into the joy of the evening with all the ease and good nature peculiar to him, often expressing his great pleasure at thus meeting an old friend or the descendant of some chum of days of yore. The color scheme of white and pink was most artistically designed and the effect was beautiful. Cut and potted flowers were to be seen everywhere and as the evening shadows grew heavy the old Latham homestead, which has been completely modernized and beautified by its new master as a refuge from the business cares of metropolitan life was brilliantly lighted by the many electric lights, bringing out in detail the loveliness of the richly robed ladies, the beauty of the rooms, while the sweet tones of Lebkuecher's band floating upon the air, mingled with the laughter and hum of happy voices created a feeling of joy and good will to all alike.

COL. W. L. BAMBERGER

Col. Wm. L. Bamberger had a narrow escape from death yesterday from an overdose of anti-kamia taken to relieve his sufferings from rheumatic pains. The medicine was taken shortly before noon and Col. Bamberger soon became unconscious. Physicians were hastily summoned and after working with him several hours restored him to consciousness. At the hour we went to press he was a great deal better and his condition was not nearly so critical.
